BE ONE OF INMAN'S MAJORITY MAKERS TODAY

State Senator J. M. Inman will be the next congressman from the Third District. The supporters of Inman declare that his election is assured.

The only question now, is how large will be his majority.

Make every effort to get to the polls and vote and see that your friends do likewise.

Take a pencil with you and under the heading "Congressional", write in the name "J. M. INMAN."

RECEIVES STRONG SUPPORT

The support that has rallied to the banner of Inman in the nineteen days that the campaign has been in progress, has been marvelous, and his adherents are represented in all walks of life—business, labor, agriculture and industry.

KNOW OF HIS RECORD

They know of the wonderful record he has made for himself in serving the people in the senate, and they know that he will ably care for the interest of the third district in congress.

In closing his campaign, Inman used the radio and in part spoke as follows:

ISSUE CLEAR CUT

"The issue is clear cut. At no time in the history of that portion of Northern California embracing the Third Congressional District have its voters been called upon to decide the fate of a principle which can be so clearly defined.

"This is a contest to determine whether our district shall be assured of its fullest right in Congress during the next two years.

NO HEREDITARY SUCCESSION

"But it is more than that. This is the people's battle to retain their traditional right to name their public servants upon a basis of service rendered rather than upon a basis of ante-mortem pledges and political trades. It is a fight against an attempt at hereditary succession to office.

PRINCIPLE VITAL

"The principle involved is as vital to the permanency of American ideals of government as any principle upon which American liberty is founded.

"I have welcomed this brief campaign. It has been to me more than a fight for my own candidacy and for the furtherance of welfare of my congressional district. It has been a fight for the right of the people to continue to express their voice through the medium of representatives of their free and uninfluenced choice.

AGAINST SPOILS SYSTEM

"It has been a battle against those professional politicians who seek to tear down the great principle of true representation in Government and replace it with the spoils system."

HIS PLEDGE

Senator Inman's closing was this:

"One final word and my campaign is at an end.

"They call me 'Fighting Jack' Inman. I have struggled for everything I have accomplished. I knew the bitterness of poverty as a child and learned the value of education by paying for that rightful heritage of childhood with a man's labor.

BATTLES FOR PRINCIPLE

"I learned also, in those frugal, struggling days, that anything worth winning is worth fighting for, and I have made it a rule to battle with might and main for every cause I have ever espoused. That quality has stood me in good stead. It has taught me, also, to battle as wholeheartedly against wrong as for the right.

PROBLEMS BIG

"The problems of our congressional district are of the first magnitude. If I am elected you may rely upon me to battle in Washington as I have fought in Sacramento."

GO TO THE POLLS TODAY AND VOTE FOR INMAN; VOTE TO DO AWAY WITH HEREDITARY SUCCESSION IN OFFICE; VOTE TO DO AWAY WITH THE SPOILS SYSTEM.

We don't know why it is or what started it, but did you ever notice that a persons driving a huge, expensive automobile will hog the middle of the road? And nine times out of ten when they meet an obstruction in the road, they will turn out and continue on their way and the poor drivers who are coming the other direction in model T's and what have you, are forced to stop.

* * * *

In most of these cases you will find that it is a woman driver who does it. Perhaps they are conscious of the wealth displayed by the machine, or feel that no matter who hits them it won't damage their car because it is so big.

* * * *

What ever causes it—there should be a law against it.

* * * *

Our idea of spending a glorious Sunday is to tow your hack home for fifteen miles, then get down and get under and try to find out just what is the matter. And after you have worked all day, removing nuts, screws, gears and other parts of the car, you find at the last minute that the only trouble is a minor one that can be repaired with a screw driver in five minutes.

Today is election day—so let's all of us get out and vote. It is the privelege of every American citizen to cast his ballot—so let's take advantage of it.

There are a number of amendments to be voted upon today—and we dare say that a very few of the voters know just what they are all about.

GUNMEN SLAY PATIENT IN HOSPITAL

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 3.—UP—Two gunmen entered the Newark General hospital tonight and shot and killed Joseph Caruso, 25, a patient.

Police said they believed Caruso was a small time alcohol racketeer known in the Newark underworld as "The Ape."

Caruso went to the hospital Sunday night to receive treatment for lacerations of the scalp. He explained the injury by saying he had fallen from a motorcar.

Hospital authorities told him today that he was sufficiently recovered to receive a discharge if he desired. He refused and was granted permission to stay.

Later in the afternoon two men went to the hospital and visited with the patient. They returned tonight and went at once to his room.

Attendants heard the firing of several shots, apparently from only one revolver. One bullet entered Caruso's head, and another his neck.

The invaders escaped from the hospital. A controversy involving four physicians connected with the same hospital was aroused recently when they were charged with harboring a known criminal wanted in Brooklyn.

SMALL VOTE SEEN IN STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—UP—Residents of California, overwhelmingly Republican, will be more interested in contests of other states than the count of their own ballots Tuesday night.

Except for a few state propositions, some important municipal questions, and a belated contest for congress in one district, interest in the election in this state was slack.

Frank Jordan, secretary of state, estimated, however, that 1,250,000 registered voters would go to the polls.

Virtually assured of election as governor, Mayor James Rolph, jr., of San Francisco had closed his campaign. His party leaders made a last appeal for votes in a 10-word slogan urging that he be given a majority of 1,000,000 votes over the

Want A Man? Girls, Here's Your Chance

Hey, rube, get out and hustle, notify the young lassies, between 20 and 30, the grass widows, the divorcees and the old maids that there is a lonesome male soul in Los Cruces, New Mexico, who is seeking a life mate. Mayor Amos B. Hinkley, received the postal from the pining male, carried it around in his pocket for several days, came to the conclusion that he was a failure at making matches for other people, then turned it over to the council last evening, when it was read, and that body graciously sidestepped the issue by referring the matter to City Manager J. A. McVittie for a solution. The city attorney sat with a grave look on his face, while the postal was being read, for fear that the knotty problem would be passed up to him, but when the buck was passed to the city manager the smile that came over the city attorney's face was broad enough to convince any one that there was not a single care on his mind.

Ladies looking for a husband can get in touch with this lost soul by addressing George Strand, 126 E. Oregon avenue, Los Cruces, New Mexico. He wants a life mate with some means, to aid him in making a fair living.

Here is the pitiful story that he related to Mayor Hinkley on a postal card:

Rabbits Die In Barn Fire

Fire of incendary origin early this morning burned a barn on the Earl Hall place in San Pablo and 25 rabbits for an estimated loss of $350.

The blaze was sighted by Richmond police from Mira Vista and the alarm given Manuel Mello, San Pablo fire chief and his volunteer fire fighters responded to the blaze and had it under control in less than an hour.

Rex, a prize German police dog in the barn at the time the blaze broke out barely escaped with his life when the owner aroused by the fire brought him to safety.

Adjoining the barn which was burned to the ground was a large supply of crude oil used by the California Construction company in the manufacture of asphaltum.

DREDGING TO BE DONE SOON

Additional harbor work in extending the width of the channel opposition the sugar wharf by 150 feet was authorized by the council at its meeting last night. This will make a channel at that point. 350 feet in width when the new work is completed.

The estimated cost will be $10,000 and the expense will be borne jointly by the federal government and the City of Richmond.

The action of the council authorizing the improvement was prompted by the following letter from Major E. H. Ropes, of the United States Engineer corps:

"Referring to your letter of October 17th, it is planned to redredge the Richmond harbor channel in the early spring of 1931 to a depth of 28 feet which is the greatest depth that can be dredged with funds now available.

"If the city desires that the 150 foot strip referred to, be deepened at that time, it can probably be done. The dredging from the former depth of 24 feet to a depth of 28 feet will be new work which the government and city will jointly bear the cost. The city's portion will be $5,000.

"If the city desires that this deeping be done and will contribute its portion of cost, the matter will be taken up with the authorities with a view of having the work done.

HIGH GRIDDERS WILL MEET ALAMEDA

The Richmond union high school gridders have met with enough defeats this season to completely dishearten any football squad, yet they are determined that they shall reverse their tide of fortune next Friday when they tangle with the Alameda high school varsity in the Neptune Beach stadium.

The 1930 season has not been a big year for the Richmond high school pigskin carriers. Following rather poor results in the preleague season schedule, the Richmond boys went down to a 34 to 6 defeat before the famous Berkeley high school eleven. Last Friday Richmond was trounced 46 to 6 by the Piedmont Highlanders.

The Richmond warriors seem unable to "get organized." They play hard, show plenty of individual talent, yet are found wanting when a strong, unified team is needed.

However, in spite of a maximum of bad luck, the Richmond gridders are still practicing steadily, and are determined to finish off the league season in better fashion than in which they began it. Next Friday's game is the last contest of the Alameda County Athletic league football season for 1930 and is also Richmond's final schance to collect a league victory.

El Cerrito Fire Department Nine Wins Fast Game

A true classic of the diamond was fought Sunday between the El Cerrito Firemen and the Mountain View Firemen, with a 2 to 1 result in favor of the El Cerritans.

The game was a torrid, thrilling one, and the result was in doubt until the final minute of play.

The Mountain View Firemen acted as hosts to the visiting team from El Cerrito following the game.

Firemen were forced to lay 4200 feet of hose and to place a pumping engine at the Twin Peaks reservoir in order to bring water to the blaze, high above street level in the hills.

The Relief Home was declared in no immediate danger.

LEGION ELEVEN WALLOPED BY SANTA ROSA

Experience was the deciding factor in the one-sided contest between the Richmond and Santa Rosa American Legion grid teams last week-end. The veterans of Santa Rosa gained a 40 to 0 victory over the Richmond Legionnaires, thereby collecting their 28th straight win in three perfect seasons.

The Richmond warriors battled hard and well, showing a consistent football style that would have done grave damage to a less notable team than Santa Rosa.

Richmond once seriously threatened to score when McAllister intercepted a pass and ran 50 yards to the Santa Rosa 15 yard line, where he was the object of a shoestring tackle.

Youngs and Cornell worked especially effectively in the Richmond backfield, while McAllister, end, Peters, guard, and Adcock and Carlson, tackles, all put in strong performances in the local line.

The Utopia club of San Francisco will be the Richmond American Legion's next opponent next Sunday afternoon on the Richmond Union high school field. The Richmond squad will tangle with the Monterey team at Monterey on Armistice Day.

UPSETS IN NET TURKEY PLAY HERE

Several upsets occurred in the Richmond Tennis association's turkey tennis tournament Sunday on the city hall courts.

The youthful doubles team of Clarence Garibotti and Adrian Newman defeated L. and H. Elgood 4-6, 10-8, and 10-8. The winners were playing with an 0-15 handicap, while the Elgood brothers were playing with a handicap of 0-30.

Lew Elgood, playing with an 015-3-6 handicap, defeated Jimmy Hurley, with an 0-40 handicap, by a score of 7-5, 6-3.

The doubles team of Jack Murdock and Reese Hayes was victorious over Carl Petersen and Fred Childs by a 6-4, 3-6, and 10-8 score. Murdock and Hayes were playing from with an 0-40 handicap, while the losers entered the match with an 0-30 handicap.

The turkey tournament is progressing under the direction of Phil Carlin.

Mix Stricken By Old Film Injury

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3.—UP—Tom Mix, screen hero and more recently a circus performer, was seriously ill in Hollywood hospital tonight of an ailment believed to have been caused by one of the many falls he suffered in his film roles.

His physician, Dr. R. Nichol Smith, said, "Mix was a very sick man Saturday night, but I am encouraged by the improvement he showed today."

Mix was stricken Friday night and was removed from his home to the hospital.

Mix suffered many injuries during his film career and it was thought that one of the old hurts may have become infected. He returned to Hollywood recently after his usual circus tour.

New Team Will Enter Winter Baseball Loop

The Richmond Odd Fellows nine won by forfeit last week-end from the Pullman Service Station athletes, who are now retiring from the league.

The place of the Pullman squad in the inter-County Winter Baseball league will be taken by the Oakland Monarchs, a strong aggregation well known on local diamonds.

The Odd Fellows will next Sunday meet the Oakland Firemen on the San Pablo diamond. The Firemen were defeated five to three by the Bunte Candy outfit last weekend.

The Richmond Modern Woodmen of America and the Bunte Candy company, formerly the Rich Pies, are now tied for first place in the league, each team having three wins and no defeats. The Rola club places third with two wins and one defeat. The Oakland Firemen, Rodeo, Richmond Y. M. I., and Odd Fellows are all tied for third place with one victory and two losses each. The Pullmans have lost all three games.

A courtroom filled with women cheered the decision.

WOODMAN NINE WINS FAST GAME

The Rola club of Oakland was completely submerged under a 12 to 3 defeat at the hands of the Richmond Modern Woodmen of America Sunday afternoon in a regular league game.

The Woodmen easily held their own throughout the entire baseball game, collecting a total of 11 hits and presenting a clover brand of fielding that well supported Martin, local chucker. Martin allowed the Rolas but five hits. The visiting club used three chuckers in an attempt to baffle the Richmond sluggers but to no avail.

Richmond Boat Damaged By Fire

Fire believed to have been started by a short circuit almost destroyed a 16 foot fast boat owned by C. E. Megenity, local motor boating enthusiast yesterday.

When 75 yards off-shore near Bull Dog point at 12:30 yesterday afternoon, flames suddenly burst out of the engine hatch.

Megenity quickly sent the boat ashore where he beached it. A few minutes later George Lauritben, of the Richmond Navigation company, in charge of a barge, passed by, saw the flames and came to Megenity's aid.

The fire was extinguished before it hit the gasoline tank.

Megenity declared last night that the hull of the boat was badly damaged. He had not inspected the engine of the craft.

Gunmen Slain By L. A. Police

LOS ANGELES, ..ov. 3.—UP—A bandit who had taken $1025 from a Bank of Italy branch on Sunset Boulevard today was shot to death by two police detectives who had been on the lookout for a holdup.

The bandit, identified through fingerprints as John Steindl, 43, with a long criminal record, died in a police receiving hospital an hour later without regaining consciousness. He had been shot six times.

Shabbily dressed, Steindl entered the bank with drawn revolvers and lined up five employes and a woman customer while he rifled the cages. Detectives Jack Malina and A. M. Woolman, who had noticed a man peering into the bank windows last night and returned this morning, shot him down as he fled.

Soccer Team Wins From Iberico 11

The first victory of the Richmond Soccer club was won last Sunday when the local kickers trounced the Ibericos of San Leandro by a score of three to one at San Leandro.

After a group of unsuccessful contests, the Richmond athletes Sunday afternoon jumped into their best form and completely outclassed their opposing team. The Richmond soccerites kept most of the action in Iberico territory, and would have undoubtedly piled up a larger score if the Ibericos had not possessed a sensational goal keeper.

The first goal for the locals was scored near the close of the first half by Moscrop. The second goal was made by Sebastian, a new member of the local outfit. Brock scored the final goal for Richmond, dribbling down the field and into the net.

The Richmond Soccer club eleven will next Sunday tangle with the Scandia squad at Washington park.

British Census To Be Started In Near Future

LONDON, Nov. 1—UP—All men, women and children in Great Britian will be called upon to reveal to the British government the secrets of their name, age, sex, marital status, birthplace, nationality and occupation April 26, when a new census population will be taken.

The last census was made in 1821 when the population totalled 37,887,000 compared with 8,893,000 in 1801 when the first census was taken.

The cost is expected to be over $2,500,000, some six hundred clerks will check the returns from 40,000 districts, into which the British Isles will be divided and a large army of enumeration officers will be kept busy delivering and collecting the papers.

One of the principal questions now occupying the attention of the Registrar-General, S. P. Vivian, is the choice of a suitable building for census headquarters.

The selection of April 26 for the count was made after careful consideration by a number of experts on travel statistics. April is believed to be the month when fewest people will be away and so thoroughly are preparations being made that officials declare that hardly a single person will be missed when the count takes place. Even bands of wandering gypsies will be visited by policemen, while the customs and excise office and Trinity house pilot officials will handle all merchant seamen and lighthouse keepers.

CAGE LEAGUE OPENED IN CITY

The McRacken quintet last night won the first A division game of the Richmond City Basketball league by defeating Santa Fe 20 to 19, after requiring an extra five minute period to decide the issue.

In the B division opener, the Civic Center Tires trounced Ben Malik's Clothiers by a score of 27 to 13.

Last night's A division clash offered the hoop enthusiasts of Richmond one of their greatest thrills of the last few years.

Both squads followed each other closely and fiercely during the first two quarters, with the result that the score board read 11 to 10 in favor of Santa Fe at half time.

Santa Fe was still leading, 14 to 12 at the conclusion of the third quarter. From the beginning until the end of the fourth quarter Santa Fe and McRacken alternated their turn on top of the scoring column, with but approximately a minute to go, Barbieri planted the ball in the Santa Fe net, making the score 16 to 15 in favor of McRacken's. Then J. Nelson followed with a beautiful shot, putting Santa Fe in a one point lead. The whistle was imminent when Larrie Gillan successfully executed a foul shot to tie the score 17 to 17. The game ended, and a five minute period was added to settle the argument.

Soon after the opening of the extra quarter, "Babe" Roche slipped in to place a well-aimed shot in McRacken's bucket. McRacken's then battered incessantly at the strong Santa Fe defense until it finally broke down for a fatal instant, thereby allowing Barbieri to slip in for the tying point. Shortly after this, Barbieri was awarded a free try, and sent McRackens' into the one-point lead which finally won his team the game The Santa Fe athletes swept down the floor in quick, sharp attacks that seriously threatened the McRacken basket. However the whistle ended the efforts of the Santa Fe warriors to capture first honors in the opening game of the season.

The B contest was also a peppy, well-contested affair, although rather one-sided in the matter of scoring. The Civic Center Tires showed a greater versatility of attack that was the undoing of the fairly strong Ben Malik defense.

A record crowd greeted the opening of the 1930 league last night in the Roosevelt Junior High school gymnasium.

The first ball of the season was tossed up by Mayor A. B. Hinkley. Remarks on the purpose and future of the league were given by Ivan W. Hill, city recreational director and director of the league, and Roy Cook, president of the 1930 league. The Richmond Union high school band, directed by George Morris, played during the contests. Both games were refereed by Denny Miner.

The lineup for the victorious McRacken's quintet last evening was as follows:

Ernie Barbieri, 7; Hall 4, Huzefka, forwards; Flynn, Gillan, 6, centers; Lee, McLaughlin 3, Milicevich, guards.

The Santa Fe lineup was as follows: L. Nelson, 3, B. Roche 6, Tula, forwards; J. Nelson, 8, forwards; H. Nelson, Gadbury 2, centers; Bowen, A. Roche, guards.

The Civic Center Tire lineup included: Seawright 2, Ferguson, Sassone 9, Heeger 4, forwards; Randall, Roveda 1, centers; Williams 9, Bumgarner 1, guards.

The Ben Malik lineup consisted of: Dotson 3, Potts 1, Damon 4, forwards; Murdock 4, center; Dolan, Duncan 1, Pfeister and Goldsworthy, guards.

Weisgerber's Knee Sprained In Game

Adam Weisgerber, star St. Mary's football player, is recovering today from the effects of a sprained left knee suffered in the game at Kezar stadium Sunday.

Weisgerber was carried from the field in the third period of the game as a result of the injury.

It is expected, however, that the injured knee will be healed by the end of the week. He may be used in the game against the Olympic Club next Sunday or, again, Coach Madigan may save him for the Fordham game in the east.

The local youth has gained state wide mention by football experts for the brilliant work he has done in the St. Mary's line. His playing Sunday was exceptionally good.

Stock Trading Shows Big Drop

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—UP—Stock trading in the pre-election market today fell off to the smallest volume since September 18 and the price level made almost no change at all.

The opening was irregular. This was followed by a slight rally. The general list held slightly above the previous close most of the day. In the last half hour a fair rally deve'oped but it failed to hold.

News was scarce, consisting mostly of corporation reports.

Hudson Motor company adopted a five-day week, but this announcement had no effect on the stock. Texas corporation made an offer to take over Indian Refining on a one for eight share exchange basis. This helped Indian Refining.

Pullman reported earnings for the first nine months higher than the corresponding period of 1929.

The brush fire in the Ma'ibu range was controlled today after blackening 55,000 acres in Ventura and Los Angeles counties. The other major fire, in Santa Susanna mountains, was controlled Saturday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—UP—Known to every resident of North Beach, the Italian section of the city, as "Father" O'Connor, the patrolman who walked a beat in that section for 27 years died here today.

James O'Connor was 90 years old and had retired in 1919. He remained an adviser for all of his friends in the Italian district, however.

When I was sergeant down there" Lieutenant James Boland recalled, "nothing I told anybody about violations of the law was official until he had gone to O'Connor and got his word for it."

Braunschweig, or Brunswick as it is known usually, is 35 miles southeast of Hanover.

SMALL VOTE IN ELECTION TODAY SEEN

Democratic candidate, Milton K. Young, it was:

"A million for one who is one in a million."

The Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, Frank Merriam, was also considered a big favorite over Martin I. Welsh, wet Democrat.

47 STATES WILL GO TO POLLS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—UP—Final appeals of numerous candidates tonight closed one of the most intense political campaigns since the World War.

Voters in forty-seven states prepared to cast a total of possibly 20,000,000 ballots tomorrow. The entire house of representatives and one-third of the senate are to be selected. Governors are to be elected in 32 states.

Control of congress is the chief stake nationally, with Democrats striving to dislodge the Republican majorities in both houses, midway in President Hoover's term. Prohibition, business depression and the tariff are deeply involved in many contests. Scores of local issues also will figure. In Minnesota a joke, told to a theater audience by Senator Schall, Republican candidate for re-election, has been made a state-wide issue by opponents.

To capture the house, Democrats must make a net gain of 53 seats. To capture the senate, they must gain ten seats. Democratic managers are hopeful that in event they fail to make these required gains, they will at any rate bring the margin so close in both houses that they can effect actual though not nominal control, through coalitions with insurgent Republicans.

Privately, Democratic leaders have little hope of taking control of the senate. Many of them do expect to win a clear majority in the house and thus overturn Speaker Longworth and put his closest friend, the diminutive Democratic congressman from Texas, John N. Garner, in the speaker's chair.

RUTH McCORMICK IN HOT CAMPAIGN

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—UP—An event unique in American history takes place when Illinois voters decide tomorrow whether to send a woman to the United States senate.

To make it even more interesting the woman was Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican senatorial nominee and one of the most astute feminine politicians in America. And to add the last possible fillip to an election otherwise brimming with excitement and suspense, her Democratic orponent was James Hamilton Lewis, perhaps the midwest's most picturesque political figure.

They spent the final day in high pressure electioneering while Chicago officials assured the voters that everything possible would be done to keep the balloting free of violence.

Mrs. McCormick reiterated in half a dozen speeches during the day her promise to abide by the decision of the voters on tomorrow's referendum on liquor. Lewis vigorously denounced the drys, pleaded for "personal liberty," and accused the Republicans of "deliberate betrayal of the interests of the great masses."

THREE CORNERED

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 3.—UP—Interest in the Oregon state election to be held Tuesday was increased to a higher pitch than usual this year by a three-cornered race for the governorship.

The guebernatorial situation in Oregon was extremely complicated this year, due to the unexpected death of first, Governor Patterson, and later the Republican primary nominee, George W. Joseph.

The Republican state central committee, which met here last June to decide upon a successor to Joseph, nominated Phil Metschan.

Upon learning of Metschan's nomination, friends and supporters of Julius L. Meier, prominent Portland business man, prevailed upon him to run for governor on an independent ticket.

The Democratic nominee, Edward F. Bailey, is the only one of the three candidates to be elected at the May primaries this year.

All three of the candidates for governor are conceded a good chance for election.

Unemployed Army Plans Long March

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—UP— An attempt to recruit an unempolyed army of from 5000 to 50,000 men to march from New York to Washington through Philade phia and Baltimore was announced today by Dan O'Brien, editor of the Hoboes' Magazine.

O'Brien, whose association with such movements goes back to 'General" Jacob Coxey, the leader of a straggling group that marched in 1894 from Massillon, O., to the national capitol, distributed enlistment blanks tonight in Bowery lodging houses and other sections of the city frequented by down-and-outers.

"The purpose of this march," read the blank in part, "wi'l be to seek an interview with President Herbert Hoover and call for work and wages or else unemployment insurance."

6 Society Women Injured in Crach

SA NFRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—UP—Brakes of a limousine failed to hold on a steep hill here today, resulting in injuries and shock to six society and club women.

Friedlander, wife of a real estate man suffered a cut in her scalp; Mrs. Carl Mason was cut and bruised. Others in the machine were Mrs. Percival Kahn, wife of a stock broker; Mrs. Frederick Snook, wife of a wholesale plumber and Mrs. Simon Erlanger, wife of a capitalist who owns the car.

Jack Noonan Escapes Jail

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—UP—Jack "Hutch" Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill and Molly O'Day screen actresses, was hunted tonight after he had escaped from a county road camp where he was serving a one-year sentence for burglary.

Noonan failed to answer roll call this morning. Under the state law which makes an escape a felony, Noonan faces a five year term in San Quentin prison if captured. He was sent to the honor camp after his conviction on a charge of burglarizing the apartment of Ted Lewis, orchestra leader.

Son Of Bishop To Face Check Charge

BRITISH TO AID UNEMPLOYED WITH FUNDS

LONDON, Nov. 3.—UP—Schemes involving the expenditure of $589,730,000 have been prepared by the British Labor government, according to data of the Labor press, to relieve the burden of Great Britian's 2,000,000 unemployed persons.

It is expected that this data will be used by the government to refute the contention of the leaders of the Conservative party that the present labor government has done next to nothing to ease the unemployment situation.

The estimated cost of the schemes already approved by the Unemployment Grants committees is $202,245,000 and schemes accounting for $135,800000, are now in operation. Work on the other schemes it is stated, will start as soon as the necessary preparatory work is completed.

The largest individual items in the Government's program are:

1—A five-year road construction to cost $157,000,000 on which contracts to the amount of many millions sterling have already been signed.

2—Improvements to railways, docks, water works and gas works involving an expenditure of $133,500,000.

3—Complete reorganization and consolidation of Great Britain's electric light and electric power stations, to cost $67,500,000.

4—Important projects to prompt industrial and economic development in the Colonies to cost $34,500,000.

These total $392,500,000. The balance of the $605,000,000 is made up of innumerable municipal undertakings in the way of local improvements and extensive housing schemes.

VOTE NO
on the Sunday Closing Measure
NUMBER 26

California's statute books must not be turned into joke-books at this election.

Proposition No. 26—presented to you in the disguise of a law to close barber shops on Sunday—is full of absurdities, and full of harm to industries and to labor necessarily and legitimately operating on Sundays.

Will you vote seriously for a law that would allow your druggist to fill a prescription or sell you a magazine on Sunday, and send him to jail for six months if he lets you have a cake of soap or a toothbrush?

Your grocer or delicatessen man could sell you milk and cream on Sunday. Do you want to make him subject to heavy fine and imprisonment for selling you a loaf of bread or a roll of butter?

Do you favor permitting an apartment house janitor to work on Sunday and prohibiting an office building janitor from going to work?

Do you think it is sensible—or just silly—to allow bakers to set sponges on Sunday but not to put Monday's bread in the oven?

Why pass laws so ridiculous that anyone so inclined can bring a minister into court on a charge of employing a choir to sing at Sunday Church services?

Don't trifle now with business & unemployment!

Many industries—cement plants, oil refineries, clay products plants, glass factories, sugar mills and refineries, etc.—MUST operate on Sundays or close down their furnaces, kilns and other manufacturing equipment. Their employees do not work seven days a week, but Sunday work is frequently absolutely necessary.

It does not need a state law affecting many industries and thousands of employees to legalize Sunday holidays for the few barbers that still work on Sunday, any more than for any other class. This measure would cause the loss of millions of dollars to California industry and increase unemployment. This is no time to trifle with business and unemployment.

NEW STAR IS PLAYING AT THE FOX

A new star is winning her way into the hearts of local theater audiences and that star is Genevie Tobin, who is making rer film debut in "A Lady Surrenders," Universal's talking screen adaptation of John Erskine's famous novel "Sincerity."

Telling the story of a blase novelist-wife and her manufacturer-husband, of how her jealousy and sophistication lose her husband's love to her best friend, "A Lady Surrenders" is said to possess the most fascinating dramatic plot of any marital drama the talking screen has yet offered.

Miss Tobin, as the wife's friend who at first feels sympathetic toward the husband, but later loves and bigamously marries him, gives what previewers claim to be one of the most convincing performances of the season.

Rose Hobart, also a reecnt convert from the speaking stage, appears as the ultra-sophisticated wife. She wears a gorgeous array of gowns, while her delineation of a difficult role will, it is predicted make her one of the screen's outstanding artists.

Basil Rathbone, another former stage star, assumes the character of a continental philanderer who jilts the novelist just as she is about to divorce her husband to marry him.

A strong supporting cast has been assembled by Director John M. Stahl to support these stars: Carmel Myers, Vivian Oakland, Franklin Pangborn and Edgar Norton, being prominent in the production.

JOYCE COMPTON STARRED IN NEW FILM

Joyce Compton, fascinating titian haired screen actress, does many things well, but excells in playing "flip" daughter roles, painting in water colors and wearing beautiful gowns.

Miss Compton gives no exhibition with the brush and palette in "Wild Company," Fox movietone all-talking romantic and emotional drama, coming to the Fox-California Theater, tomorrow but she portrays the character of Henry Grayson's daughter and wears modish gowns that were created by Sophie Wachner, fashion expert at the Fox studios

"Wil Company" an original story by John Stone, deals with the misadventure of a rich man's son, who by circumstance, becomes involved in a robbery and murder in a gambling house and cabaret. He escaped a prison term, but not until the father, in a thrilling court trial, sacrifices himself on the altar of confession.

Frank Albertson, rising young screen actor, and H. B. Warner, well-known actor of the stage and screen, play the son and father respectively Sharon Lynn appears as the siren, a role in which she has excelled in many screen plays. Other favorites playing roles are, Claire McDowell, Richard Keene Kenneth Thomson, Bela Lugosi, Frances Mc Coy, Mildred Van Dorn and Bobby Callahan.

Leo McCarey directed the picture and Albert Rockett was in general charge of the production.

Also on the program is a comedy entitled "Two Fresh Eggs."

MAN KILLED UNDER TRUCK WHEELS

Rites for Jeremiah Crowley, 43, who succumbed to injuries suffered Sunday when he fell beneath the wheels of a moving truck will be held tomorrow morning from St. Marks church.

Crowley passed away at an Albany hospital where he was taken after he fell under the truck while attempting to catch a passing street car. Crowley was on his way home from work when the accident occurred.

He had been a resident of this for many years, but more recently had resided in Oakland. Chief of Police R. R. Cheek of El Cerrito rushed the injured man to the hospital from the accident scene, where it was found that he was suffering from a fractured pelvis and internal injuries.

The accident occurred Sunday afternoon, and Crowley passed away yesterday morning. H. Betz, Berkeley was driving the truck on which Crowley was riding when the fatal leap occurred.

Crowley was a member of Vallejo Knights of Columbus, and an Oakland order of Ancient Order of Hibernians. He was a native of Ireland.

Surviving him are two brothers Cornelius Crowley, Crockett; and John Crowley, Ireland, beside two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Lary, and Mrs. Jeremiah Horgan, both of Ireland.

The rites are set for 9:30 o'clock after which interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. Tonight a Rosary will be recited from Ryan Funeral home where plans are being made for interment.

DELAY WON IN TUNNEY TRIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—UP— A wide grin spread across the scholarly countenance of Gene Tunney in supreme court today as his regiment of high priced lawyers, called for a dismissal of the $405,000 suit brought against the retired heavyweight champion by Tim Mara, sports promoter.

Mara, who runs a professional football team, charges Tunney with breaking a contract, entered into in 1926 before Gene took the title away from Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia. The contract, Mara contends, called for his advice and assistance in promoting the Dempsey match for Tunney. He was to get, he charges, ten percent of Tunney's share of the Philadelphia fight, and 25 percent of all Gene made thereafter as champion.

The suit is directed against Tunney and his former manager, Billy Gibson, who was recently adjudged mentally incompetent and who is represented in the case by his guardians. The ball started rolling today when Gibson's representatives asked that the case against him be dismissed. Justice Peter A. Hatting granted the motion.

Then Emory R. Buckner, chief counsel for Tunney, moved for dismissal as to the defendant Tunney. He based his motion on the fact that, under law, Gibson and Tunney were jointly responsible for anything that might be owing to Mara, and that Tunney cannot be held responsible alone in the case.

Justice Hatting considered the point so well taken that he decided to adjourn court and think the matter over.

So the case was put over to Wednesday, at which time Justice Hatting will have decided either to throw the whole case into the street or continue the trial.

Tunney's attorneys seemed confident that they would get a dismissal.

Judge Alstrom In Plea To Voters

Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom, encumbent, yesterday issued the following statement:

"As far as I can see the only opposition to my return to office arises from those who claim I have been too strict in the performance of my duty. It is natural that those who have received fines and other penalties in my court should not regard me with favor. I trust, however, that the great majority of voters who aim to be honest and law abiding and who therefore have nothing to fear from a just enforcement of law, will support me.

"For many years I have been connected with the Social Service bureau often as persident. I have given generously of my time and means in support of the Red Cross and similar efforts in this city and have continually had regard for my duties as a public official and citizen of this city. Through such efforts I have aided in the work of handling cases of need and distress and in softening the lot of those who have felt life's hard knocks. I hope at today's election to sustain the good lead given me at the primary."

William Andresen Transferred South

William Andersen, Jr., of this city was in Bakersfield today where he is manager of a paint store. He had been working for the same concern in their Oakland store. His residence was at 322 Thirtieth street. His bride is expected to join him in approximately two weeks.

A CONSOLIDATION OF
BANK OF ITALY
NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS ASSOCIATION
AND
BANK OF AMERICA
OF CALIFORNIA

Effective Monday, November 3

THE CONSOLIDATION of these institutions unites the resources, facilities, service, prestige and good will of two great statewide banking organizations and marks one of the greatest forward strides in the financial progress of America. ▸ It completes the structure begun by A. P. Giannini, bringing to every center of business, of industry and of agriculture in California the complete metropolitan service of this billion dollar bank. ▸ The growth of Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association and Bank of America of California is one of the outstanding features of American banking history. Both organizations have distinguished themselves in constructive achievement and in helpful, human, statewide banking service. They have attracted a combined patronage greater than that of any other bank in the United States. Woven into the fabric of this momentous consolidation are the traditions and policies of constructive banking in California. ▸ Although greater strength, greater ability and greater national prestige will result from the union of these two vigorous and progressive institutions . . . the same time-tested policies and sound banking practices . . . the same democratic spirit and impartial attitude toward everyone, rich or poor, will prevail. All California has helped to build these banks. To apply Lincoln's immortal words, Bank of America is "of the people, by the people and for the people" of California.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Of Course Men Are the Marathon Talkers

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

WOMEN who are tired to death of being talked to death by all the men of their acquaintance—
Even while, adding insult to injury, these men and all others insist
That the gift of gab is peculiarly feminine—
Women who long ago resigned themselves to their role of patient, enthusiastic-if-possible listeners
Did not fail, we trust, to notice
That ALL the super-eloquent finalists, in the marathon talker contest at the Chicago Radio Show
Were MEN!
According to the last account we saw, four of the male contestants
Had been talking continuously, with five minutes' rest out of each hour,
For more than three days.
The fifth joined them after the first twenty-four hours.
On the other hand, two girl entries dropped out after the first day.
This news merely confirms what is our rooted conviction and that of every other thoughtful woman—
(And, really, women get time to do a lot of thinking While men are doing the talking!)—
Our PROFOUND conviction that the chatterbox sex is male, not female.
When Prof. William B. Sandford announced, the other day, that the average person
Speaks 30,000 words a day in natural conversations
Women listened (as usual) to the professor, listened patiently and without protest,
But they knew that, for "average person," he should have said "average man,"
And they said (to themselves—such silent speech is one of the defense mechanisms of the female)—
"With my husband—or my boss—or my boy friends talking 30,000 words a day,
And at least two-thirds of them spilled at me,
It's no wonder I don't find a chance to get a word in edgewise."
Women, again, read with a quiet smile
The recent remarks of another professor (professors rank high among verbose males)—
Read that Prof. C. W. Valentine, psychologist and head of the department of education of the University of Birmingham, England,
Said, in an address before the British Association for the Advancement of Science:
"Many infants love to babble
And I have to report that I notice this more decidedly
In my two little girls than in the boys."
"Of course," women thought, but didn't say (they get so much practice in this trick)—
"Those baby girls are loquacious NOW—
Poor children, it's their only opportunity, in the course of a long life!
When they're a bit older, they'll soon realize
That their role is to be perpetual audience
Not so much for the doings as for the SAYINGS
Of little boys, half-grown boys and boys grown up to man's estate."
What little girl finishes dancing-school without learning
That she mustn't talk about her dolls—she must listen to Bobbie, while he talks about his football game—
And that her safest conversational line consists of three succinct words of worship for boyish prowess—
"Aren't you AWFUL!"
So it goes, through high school, through college,
Through romance, through business, through matrimony—
The marathon talker—about his own affairs, the affairs of the world, rarely or never the affairs of women—
Is the male of the species.
Woman's only real compensation—and she certainly is entitled to something
To pay for her hours of politely attentive boredom—
Is that a man frequently talks himself into her toils.
If he'd only keep quiet, he might be safe,
But instead he will insist on promising the earth and on Telling All—
Naturally, a woman expects a man to live up to his word,
And, with the average man, one word leads to another,
Until there really are a lot of words to which he must live up!
Meanwhile he goes right ON talking—
You can't gag him—he's the original talkie—
And when he says that it's the girls who are gabby
This is just more of HIS talk!

RETALIATION

You say my figure is a little stout!
You say it could be lessened there, and here,
You say I am a little more than plump—
That I am lost to you, you fear!

Well! I say you are a little—no—quite rude!
I'll say you shall be "lessoned" now and here!
I'll say that I am lost to you—
Tomorrow I shall get another corsetiere.

MARY B.

AREN'T MEN NOBLE!

"Science," carols N. A. Oatridge Cambridge University lecturer, "has fixed it so that a lot of women are now getting two glances from men where before they never got one. Take face lifting, the permanent wave, scientific complexions. That's science. It's made the world more beautiful."

And Dr. Frazer B. Gurd of McGill University, has just issued a defense of high heels, which, he says, eliminate flat feet.

Now who says women have no champions in the academic halls of learning?

WORDS

Perfect words, your singing words
Sailing in beauty,
Singing and sailing, and touching
My dream, like the dawn—
Waking the pulse of my soul
And the best of my musing. . . .
Your words and your voice,
Reverberant words that are gone.

Seattle, Wash. HELEN MARING.

The recent marriage of King Boris of Bulgaria makes the Prince of Wales royalty's most eligible bachelor, and talk about him and the girls has already picked up. Without the slightest reflection on H. R. H., we hope that the bride of H's choice, when, as and if, first has a little talk with Queen Helen of Roumania on what every girl who marries a prince ought to know.

A Novel Hanging Basket

IN A clean-up session last spring a housewife came across an old graphophone horn and she conceived the idea of converting it into a hanging flower receptacle.

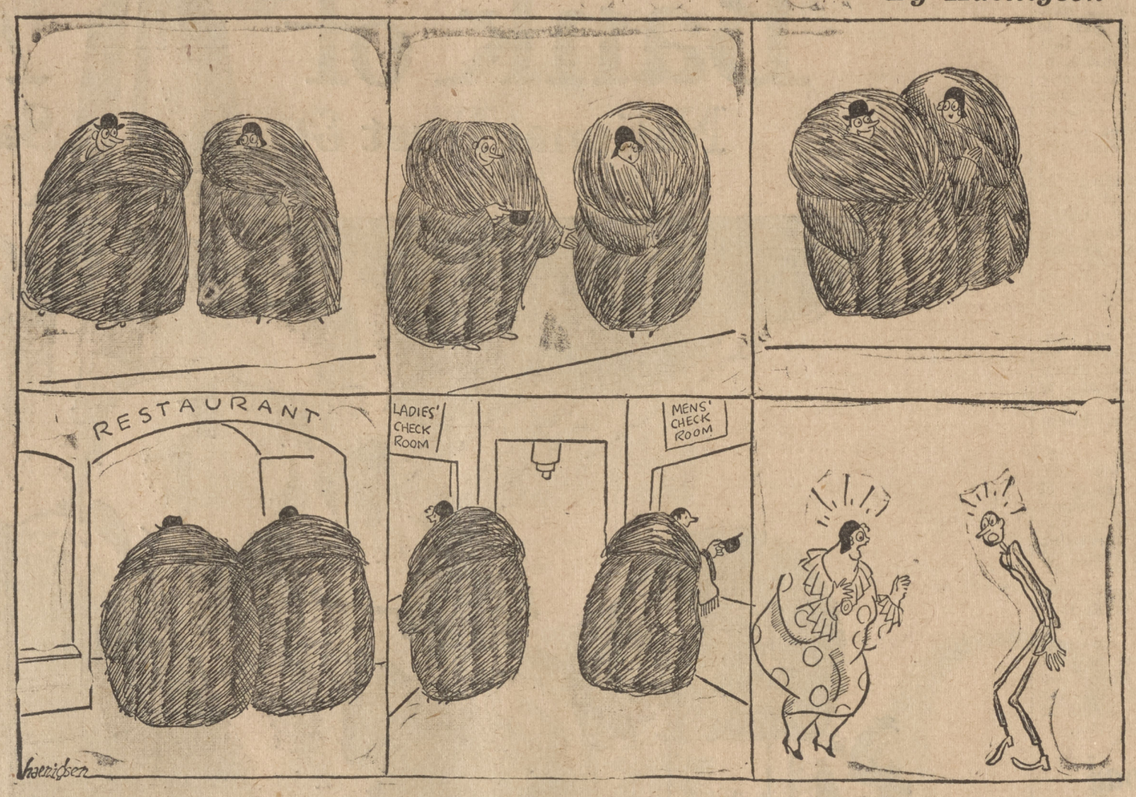
She painted it green, and friend husband pierced two small holes into it. She planted petunias in it and suspended it from the upper side of the porch, where the unusual hanging flower pot attracted much attention.

Now she has filled the horn with artificial nasturtiums and has it hanging from the ceiling, in a corner of the sun parlor, where it has the appearance of a natural, blossoming plant and brightens up that corner wonderfully.

Use the Paper Bags

Save paper bags that your groceries, etc., come in. Turn top edge of bag over several times, cuff fashion. Then, when preparing vegetables or other foods, throw all the parings and scraps into the bag. They can readily be emptied into the garbage can and there is no mess on the table to clean up.

Doin' the Raccoon - - - - - - - - - By Haenigsen



Get the Right Shoes

THERE are a number of important factors to remember when getting new shoes. A friend of yours has a pair of shoes, practically new. The shoes were too large or too small and therefore never worn. You pay your friend a visit one day and receive the shoes as a "gift." Or, on another occasion shoes may be on sale and the sale really is so good you just cannot resist buying at least one pair. The shoe sale may just be to dispose of odd sizes not one of which is yours, but you buy—sales are so irresistible. In either case, you can now begin to settle down to some lively foot troubles.

It is essential that each time you get shoes you have your feet measured, and they are measured by standing full on both feet without shoes. The fact that you wear a 5-C of one type shoes does not necessarily mean that a 4½-D will not be just as satisfactory in another kind. But feet are too important a matter and too difficult a thing to change not to warrant special care in fitting.

When you have measured and decided upon the pair of shoes wanted, put on both shoes, stand and walk in them as much as possible, be as certain as you can that they fit, and then accept them as your own. Don't just look at them, decide they are pretty, put one shoe on and walk home with your package.

According to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health editor of Successful Farming, the greatest danger lies in getting shoes too short. This error can only be avoided by careful fitting. He further advises that when purchasing shoes for the child under six years of age, the shoes should be one-half inch longer and one-quarter inch wider than the foot

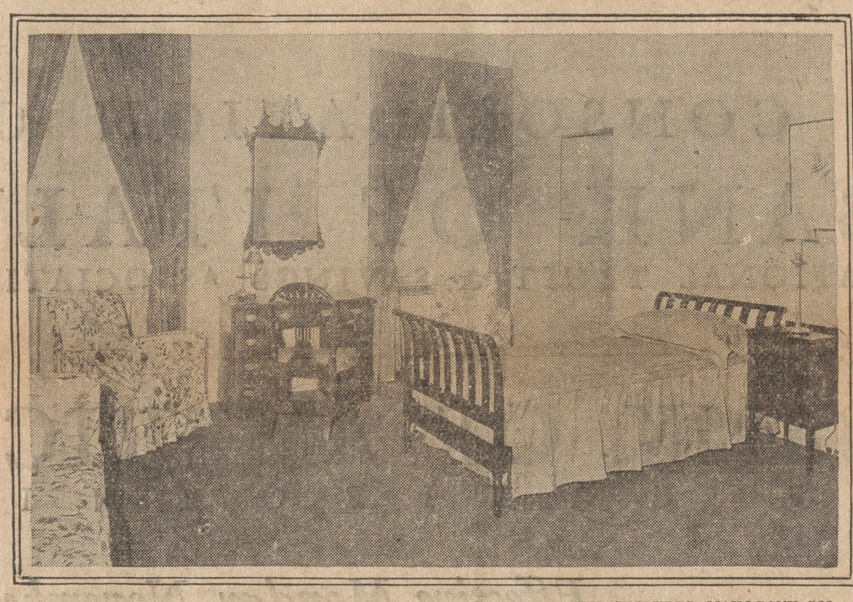
The doctor does not absolutely pronounce against the wearing of high heels, but to avoid foot troubles and bad posture, he warns against their constant use.

Try This

If you fold silk and lay it away for a while you may find it beginning to crack in the folds before you use it, so it is better to use a mailing tube, or you can roll newspaper and wrap tissue paper around it, then roll the silk on this.

All Day Comfort for the Bedroom

By Alma Zaiss



RESTFUL—BUT FAR FROM SUBDUED—THE SCHEME FOR THIS ROOM INCLUDES MAHOGANY-COLORED CARPETING, PEACOCK BLUE CURTAINS AND SLIP COVERS OF YELLOW CHINTZ PATTERNED IN BLUE AND GREEN.

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I am going to have a separate bedroom in my new apartment and would like to have your suggestions on how to furnish it. I am undecided whether it would be better judgment to get a full set of furniture or to use separate pieces, and if separate pieces, then what should they be?

I saw a good bargain in a set containing twin beds, a dresser, long vanity and bench, a man's chest and two straight chairs, also a night table, all in walnut, but somehow it looks so much all alike I was wondering if I couldn't do better by getting the beds and a chest or dresser now and filling out with other pieces. My room is 13x15, and nice and light. Please go as far as you like in advising me, Miss Zaiss, as I have not bought a thing yet. I might tell you that my husband does not like early American things. He says they are too old-maidish to suit him. I don't see where he gets it, but if he feels that way I would sort of hate to get it, although I like it myself, especially maple. But aside from that, you may suggest anything you like.

MRS. F. P. B.

In Small Homes the Livable Scheme Is Most Important

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WHEN we call to mind the bedrooms in various homes of our acquaintance, we are amazed to discover the sameness of them—the lack of individuality and inviting coziness needed in order to give the room twenty-four hour comfort instead of the scant eight-hour period spent there in sleep.

One of the first reasons for this dearth of charm is the fact that too often rooms in homes are planned like the old-time hotel room, with its inevitable bed, night-stand, dresser, chair aspect that was unvarying from coast to coast. Sometimes in those days, you remember, in the sleepy early morning it was hard to know whether we are waking up in Cedar Rapids, Ia., in Boston or in San Francisco, the rooms were so similar and characterless.

But that period is gone—or going quickly—and today many a housekeeper would do well to note the lengths to which modern hotels go to eliminate the set-idea—the sameness which, no matter how hard we fight against it, keeps us from feeling thoroughly at ease.

The illustration for today demonstrates this point very nicely, for here, in the setting which shows one of the rooms planned for the transient section of the new Waldorf-Astoria, furnishings are quite varied and the effect is that of a lively home. The desk between the windows is copied from an antique, the easy chairs and sofa are covered with the friendliest sort of chintz, the night table is an odd piece, likewise the chest and the detached mirror (not shown) are odd pieces copied from antiques.

No matter where it is, whether in the home or the hotel, the presence of many pieces cut from the same pattern is monotonous and that is the answer to Mrs. B.'s question as to whether the set or the unmatched pieces would be best.

In these days of small homes, as much as we need the bedroom for sleep we also need it as a retreat, an extra living room, if you please, and it is in this spirit that we should plan its scheme. In selecting separate pieces Mrs. B. may find them more expensive than bedroom sets, but worth the difference, if she can afford it, and she should remember that all need not be bought at one time. Better to buy the bed or twin beds, a dresser, a small table and two comfortable chairs or a chair and a chaise longue, adding later such extra pieces as the chest, a book table, sewing cabinet and standing lamp. And instead of a draped dressing table, if Mr. B. dislikes frills and flounces, it would be nice to have a small poudre in natural wood. This could also be bought at some future time.

On the question of the character of the bedroom, Miss Lucy Taylor (whom readers will recall as one of the consultant decorators for the department and a lecturer at Vassar College) has had a number of interesting things to say, among them:

"If there is one place in the house where character and individuality should have full sway, that place would seem to be the bedroom. And this point should be given particular consideration in the home where there is opportunity for different members to have personal rooms. Perhaps Johnnie is a golfer and almost never reads. But he does smoke and he does like to get off by himself with his pet crony and talk golf. Give him two big lounging chairs, probably leather, two smoking stands and a table for his paraphernalia. Don't try to dress him up with a bookcase and reading light, or put him in a room with a cot-like bed and two stiff wooden chairs.

"Sam may be a reader. Give him the bookcase and table-desk and deep chairs with reading lights. If Sally is a dainty soul, let her room be frilly and let her have the chaise longue all covered with frilly, dainty pillows and a light slumber robe that sister Jane would abhor. Jane who wants a good substantial secretary where she can have both her books and writing materials and where deep drawers will hold many treasures.

"Nor should we make that big healthy specimen of American manhood called Father sleep in a pink boudoir. It really isn't fair. Nor when we are arranging that 'master bedroom' should we forget the needs of the gentleman of the family for ample space for his clean clothes—deep drawers and plenty of shelf room. Sometimes, too, he likes to get off quietly by himself of a Sunday afternoon, away from the noise of the children in the living room. Why not see that the big easy chair in the bedroom is of the type that he can settle down into comfortably with his pipe, not a dainty, ladylike chair that could never be a consolation, to say nothing of fitting his big frame? Getting away for a few hours may be a great rest and stimulus for the busy rush and strain of the week at the office. It is just as easy to make a good room—decoratively speaking—that is comfortable for individual needs at is is to create one that is merely good looking and has little other virtue."

Except for the paragraph about Father, these remarks are not for Mrs. B.'s three-room apartment, of course, but they fit into the general topic so deftly that they are given for the benefit of all.

We cannot give an arrangement for Mrs. B., because she has sent no floor plan. If she selects colonial or eighteenth century furnishings the following color scheme is suggested: Walls a warm old ivory; carpet a rich wine-red; chintz curtains having an ivory ground and definite reds and blues in the floral pattern. Our preference for this would be a dignified but friendly chintz as distinguished from quaint or dainty patterns. One chair can be covered with the chintz, and the man's chair would be good in deep blue corded with red. The bedspread may be in deep old ivory or of that peculiar shade of rose that will tone down into the wine-red carpet.

Resilvering the Mirror

IF THE back of the mirror is wearing off do not discard this useful article. Clean the glass carefully and when thoroughly dry cover the back of the glass with mercury or quicksilver; over this place a sheet of unwrinkled tinfoil. Carefully smooth out all wrinkles and bubbles. With a squeegee roller you will do this easily and successfully. Allow this to dry, then apply one or more coats of liquid shellac—varnish or paint will do too, as this coat is merely a protection to the silver.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

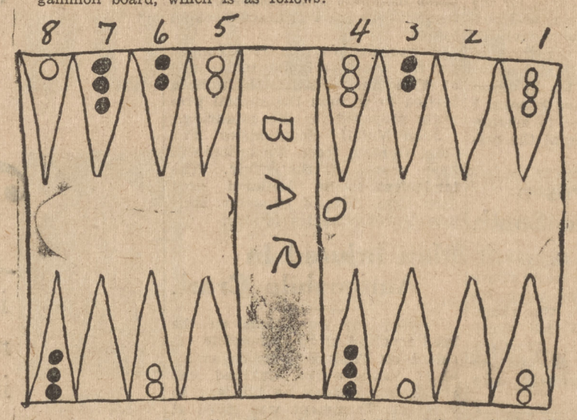
Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

(In today's whirlwind instalment, J. Herman Seidlitz cleans up the mystery of playing backgammon. There is no greater authority on indoor sports than Mr. Seidlitz. He was the first man to freeze his own dice in an electric icebox. He originated the idea of pasting grass-cloth wallpaper on a ping-pong table and calling it miniature lawn tennis. He also devised the famous Seidlitz play in checkers. This consisted of dethroning all a checker opponent's kings by tipping the checkerboard upside down. Mr. Seidlitz is the master mind behind all indoor games. In literary circles it is an open secret that he was the ghost writer for Hoyle. In today's gigantic instalment Mr. Siedlitz explains the finer points of backgammon. The reading public is to be congratulated that this article appears in no other paper.)

HOW TO PLAY BACKGAMMON

By J. Herman Seidlitz

IN ORDER to get the most enjoyment out of playing backgammon the reader should first familiarize himself with the layout of the backgammon board, which is as follows:



It will be noticed in the above beer and then takes out the dice diagram that the bar is between the two sections of the backgammon board. This is to give the players better service. With the bar right out there in the middle, it also prevents the bartender from cheating on drinks.

The best way to enjoy backgammon is first to go to the bar and get a slug of refreshments. After these have been consumed, take out the dice and offer to shake the bartender for the drinks. The dice may be on the level or loaded. So may the customer.

Some good backgammon players never get away from the bar until it is closing time. This is not the best way to play the game, however, for if you will look at the diagram above you will see that the rooms on both sides of the bar have been arranged in the form of booths.

However, if a player insists on staying at the bar all evening, he must be careful when he finally backs away not to bump up against the very sharp points. Last week, in a very important backgammon contest, three players were severely spiked on their way from the bar to the gentlemen's smoking room.

The way to really enjoy the game is to start at the bar and then adjourn to one of the booths. These booths are numbered (see above) and you can reserve one in advance by speaking to the head waiter.

In order to make the game clear to the reader in the above diagram, the white circles represent beer and the black circles are rye or Scotch. The two round circles you see in front of the bar represent brass cuspidors.

To illustrate how the game is played, take the No. 1 position on the upper part of the board. The player, on starting his backgammon play, has gone up to the bar and ordered a light beer. He has another and shakes. That makes the two drinks on the house.

But to show he is a good fellow and a good backgammon player, he then orders three beers to be served in booth No. 1. The three beers had just been placed there when the above diagram was drawn. The next booth, No. 2, is not yet occupied, but has been reserved by telephone. In the No. 3 booth they are having two Scotch highballs, as you can see, and the party in the No. 4 booth is having a good time on beer.

That is the best way to play backgammon and don't let any other expert tell you different.

THIS AND THAT

Yale found it beat the Army 7 to 0 when it saw moving pictures of the game the next day. The only trouble was that it took twenty-four hours for the play to develop.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

The modern housewife faces no such problem as did the ones of other days when she sets out to make a pumpkin pie. This favored dessert of autumn days can now be produced by about an hour's work, whereas the old-fashioned cook had to spend the better part of a day just steaming the pumpkin for filling. Not only is it a great deal less trouble to use canned pumpkin, it is much more economical. Canned pumpkin is on sale in some of the chain stores this week at two cans for 25 cents, all you have to do is to add water, roll out the crust and you have as fine and flaky pastry as can be made by an expert chef.

KAREN HOLLIS

The following recipe makes filling that is rich and light and spicy.

PUMPKIN PIE

1 pie crust
1 cup canned pumpkin
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons molasses (dark)
4 tablespoons butter
2 eggs
2 cups milk or 1 cup milk and 1 cream
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Beat egg yolks well and add salt, sugar, molasses and spices. Add milk slowly, beating mixture well. Melt butter and stir into pumpkin, then add liquid mixture, blending thoroughly. Beat egg whites stiff and fold them in carefully. Pour in pie shell, bake for ten minutes in hot oven then reduce heat to 350 and bake for about thirty minutes longer or until filling is set and firm. Chopped nuts or cocoanut can be sprinkled over the filling after the first ten minutes of baking if desired.

which makes your pumpkin pie an inexpensive dessert, even if you substitute cream for milk in the following recipe. Many people like their pumpkin pies very rich, and if you are one who does you can spare the extravavance of using a bottle of cream in the pie by substituting evaporated milk.

While on the subject of time and labor and expense savers, let me suggest that you try a package of prepared pie crust if you have not already done so. This greatly simplifies the labor of making crust, for

EL CERRITO CITY COUNCIL IN MEETING

On the recommendation of safety commissioner Phil A. Lee the El Cerrito council at its meeting Monday night ordered that a stop and go safety signal be purchased for Fairmont and San Pablo avenues at a cost of $437.75 and one for Potrero and San Pablo avenues at a cost of $379.45 from the General Electric company.

Contract for the installation was awarded to the McDonald Electric Shop of El Cerrito for $350.00

Councilman Phil A. Lee reported that he and representative of the City of Richmond would meet with the Stege sanitary board Thursday in regards to installing a sewer on Silva avenue to connect with the Richmond sewer.

Application of W. H. Altha to conduct a dancing academy at Cerrito hall was referred to Chief of Police R. R. Cheek for one week.

Plans for the widening of Stockton avenue and installation of sidewalks, curbs and gutters and an estimate of the cost submitted by City Engineer Ross L. Calfee was referred to Councilmen Peter Larsen and Phil A. Lee to interview the property owners on the street to see if the proposed improvement meet with their approval.

Two of the local residents who appeared before the council stated that they were not in favor of the complete improvement at this time but would be in favor of the construction of sidewalks.

The council granted permit to Eagle Drum Corps of Richmond to hold advance at Central hall on Saturday, November 22.

Deeds to the property between Fink and Moser Lanes for the extension of Liberty street from Michael Murphy and George Budgen and wife were accepted by the council.

City Attorney T. H. DeLap was instructed to submit a traffic ordinance to the council next Monday regulating funerals, stop boulevards and stop and go signals.

The recommendation was made by Safety Commissioner Phil A. Lee.

City Attorney T. H. DeLap informed the council that city planning expert Dr. Aronovici would meet with the council after the regular session next Monday night at which time he would submit a tentative map for zoning the city.

Speeder Clad In Pajamas Under Arrest

An automobile going 55 miles an hour along San Pablo avenue is too fast thought Officer Floyd Gilbert, who overtook the speeder early Monday.

A look at the driver indicated he was not fully attired and further examination revealed that he wore only pajamas.

D. C. Swayze, San Francisco, was the name and address written on El Cerrito police records when the driver was brought into the station for investigation

Swayze told police he had attended a Hallowe'en party at an El Cerrito home and was to stay there the entire night with his wife and two children, but discovered when ready to retire that the sleeping quarters were somewhat cramped, so he decided to drive to the home of a friend on San Pablo avenue.

The weather chilled him somewhat, he declared, and he drove fast. Police checking on the story, found that what Swayze had told them was correct, but the charge of driving 55 miles an hour in a 40 mile zone was held good.

One Jailed In Auto Wreck At El Cerrito

One man is being held in El Cerrito jail facing drunk driving charges, while a mother, father and infant daughter are recovering from injuries suffered when their car was struck by the jailed man on San Pablo avenue, police reported.

John McCoy, Albany is the man held in jail in lieu of $500 bail set following his arrest on the drunk driving charge, while Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Service and their baby of Los Angeles are the three recovering from cuts and bruises. The three were treated at Humboldt hospital.

McCoy is also facing a charge of operating a car without consent of the owner, and failure to have a driver's license.

Police reported the Service car was struck when attempting to make a turn at the corner of San Pablo and Fairmont avenue. Both cars were badly damaged in the crash.

Third Tot Murder Stirs Indiana

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 3.—UP—The third child murder in Indiana this fall sent authorities seeking the slayer tonight of 13-year old Dorothy Winters.

She was found on the side of a road near here early today with her neck broken. She died on the way to a hospital where physicians said she had been assaulted.

Raymond Nelson, 30, said he took Dorothy to "a beer farm" near Elkhart last night. Nelson added that he thought Dorothy was 17 years old. that they drank beer for an hour or so and then that she left him with another man she knew.

She was not seen afterwards until John Kvos found her dying on the roadside. Position of her body indicated that she had been thrown from an automobile. Police would not reveal the name of the suspect but said they hoped to find him shortly.

Scarface Al's Power Grows

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—UP—Without mentioning names, Chief Justice John P. McGoorty told the November grand jury today that "Scarface "Al" Capone's power in Chicage has not been broken, but rather increased by developments since the assassination last June of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

In charging the jury to continue investigations made by the September and October grand juries of gangs, crooked politicians and police, Judge McGoorty revealed for the first time, that the Capone organizations had made overtures for a "peace pact."

"With cool effrontery," he said, "overtures very recently have been made to the end that the most widely heralded and powerful gangster leader in Cook county will withdraw from labor activities, if permitted to conduct, unmolested by the law, his racket in beer.

Chest Drive Opened With Banquet Meet

cation pointed to a speedy and successful conclusion of the drive.

Groups 1 and 2 which includes the business territory between First and Twenty-third streets along Macdonald avenue will be thoroughly worked today and all this week. Wednesday morning the first report meeting will be held when workers gather at Hotel Carquinez. By that time it is expected a large amount of the total budget will be subscribed.

George Thornton heads the group, which includes the territory from First to Tenth street, while George Barnett heads the group working the territory from Tenth to Twenty-third street.

Work Starts

Committee members were enthusiastic last night as they began their work. Workers on the committees were assigned all the residents in the block in which they live, and were seeing the prospects today.

The meeting was called to order last night by W. W. Scott, general chairman, who briefly told of the work that is to be done during the short time the drive is to be under way.

T. H. DeLap, president of the chest, was introduced by Scott. Delap briefly told of the work of Richmond Kiwanis who appointed Frank Chandler to make a survey of the agencies in Richmond to determine whether they would be willing to co-operate in the organization and maintenance of a community chest. The successfulness of the Kiwanis work was evidenced by the results shown last night.

Only Drive

DeLap emphasized the fact that this would be the only drive of the year. Previously he said the six different agencies held seperate drives, but with the organization of the chest that is done away with, he declared. The cooperation of all was asked by DeLap.

Thomas M. Carlson next emphasized the importance of the chest. He pleaded that the workers show the rest of the state that "We are the white spot of the state."

It was pointed out last night that the budget fixed by the organization committee made a per capita subscription of $1.20 whereas in many places where community chests have been successful the per capita was more than four dollars.

Women to Aid

Work of the women's committee under Mrs. Earle L. Scofield will not be started until next week, it was explained. The reason given for this was said to be due to the fact that there would be no doubling of efforts to have members of the same family subscribe more than one time.

During the next week residents of the El Cerrito and Kensington Park will also be solicited.

Three report meetings will be held this week. They will be in Hotel Carquinez Wednesday, Thurs-day and Friday mornings.

It was also pointed out last night that any person who contributes one dollar or more to the chest automatically becomes a member of the American Red Cross for the year 1931.

Youth Held On Driving Charge

Unable to raise $200 bail, Sotero Vega, 22 of 521 A street, is being held in El Cerrito jail charged with driving while intoxicated.

Police declared Vega crashed into a car owned by Socrates Capelis, El Cerrito which was parked on San Pablo avenue.

Big Bill Can't Cast Vote Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—UP—Mayor William Hale Thompson, recovering from an emergency operation for appendicitis, discovered to his chagrin tonight that he will be unable to vote tomorrow.

His honor awoke feeling better, physicians reported, than he has since being stricken suddenly Tuesday night.

"Bring me a ballot," was the mayor's first request.

His secretary called the election commission office and was informed that a sick person, unable to visit the polls, cannot vote unless he is outside the county wherein he has legal residence.
